

FLACSO-WTO Chairs Award

for young professors and researchers

Edition 2011

The WTO Chair at FLACSO-Argentina opens a call for papers and essays for the FLACSO- WTO Chairs Award, 2011 Edition.

FLACSO - WTO Chairs Award recognizes and rewards creative, pro-active and soundly argued works on developing countries and the World Trade Organization.

FLACSO - WTO Chairs Award is primarily intended for young professors and researchers on international trade from various perspectives such as law, economics, political science, among others.

Topic

The general topic is developing countries and the WTO. Theoretical works as much as empirical or case studies are welcome. Papers and essays may deal with institutional and political aspects as well economic and social impacts of the multilateral trading system.

In particular, for the 2011 Edition we welcome papers addressing:

- Developing Countries and the Global Trading System;
- Intellectual Property;
- Trade in Natural Resources;
- Trade and Climate Change;
- Trade and Food Safety;
- Special and Differential Treatment;

→ This list of issues is illustrative and not exhaustive.

Award

The FLACSO - WTO Chair will award US$ 1.000,00 (one thousand US dollars) to the author/s of the best paper/essay and US$ 500 (five hundred US dollars) and certificate to the author/s of the paper/essay that merits a Special Mention.

Winners will be selected by a Committee formed by FLACSO's researchers and invited experts.
